I've been at F5 for a few years now and each year our annual Agility conference gets bigger and better. This year, we're in Monaco. Guaranteed sunshine and a playboy atmosphere, not to say remarkably expensive beer (€11!!!!). I'll be posted updates over the course of the two day conference. Suffice to say for the moment that the theme this year is BIG.

Big in terms of ideas, of mobile connections, of data and of scale. Our executives and thought leaders are taking these elements of the world and expounding on where they might take IT strategy in years to come.

More to follow...#agility2013 for tweeters
